

CASTLE CONTEMPORARY

This 3,600-square-foot contemporary on Stanford Avenue, built by Classic Urban Homes, sold in the upper $800s to Aimee and Ian Trumpower and their 3-year-old daughter about 10 months ago. Materials are textural, with stone, hardwoods, granite and stainless steel used throughout the house, which has four bedrooms and three-and-a-half baths. High energy-efficient air-conditioning units and extra insulation keep utility bills manageable. "We were not looking for modern, but when we walked in the door and saw the open floor plan, we said, 'This is it,'" says Aimee, who had lived in Briarwood before she married Ian. "We love the untraditional layout."
